CITY BREWERY And SALOON, Cor. Second and Spring Streets, LOS ANGELES.

Fine Lager Beer for sale IN QUANTITIES

We are in receipt of the initial number of The Republic, the new New York Republican paper. It is a six-page quarto, well edited and full of news. It is published by an association which evidently means business.

The San Francisco Chronicle says the Alta is trying to blackmail the theatres. The Chronicle is a good hand at nailing out this sort of thing. There is an old adage about setting a thief to catch a thief.

Action.

The prediction of the HERALD a few days since, that the real leaders of the Los Angeles and Independence Railroad Company were doing more work and less talk than usually characterized the progress of Los Angeles enterprises, turns out to have not been far from the mark. The live members of the company have been at work devising ways and means, and yesterday it was decided to take the first direct steps toward locating the road. F. P. F. TEMPLE, President of the Company, directed Engineer CRAWFORD to provide himself with a corps of assistants and commence running preliminary lines. The party will probably leave the city to-morrow. It seems to be understood that Cajon Pass is the only practical route, and it is through and from that Pass Mr. CRAWFORD will run his preliminary lines. The road may connect with the Southern Pacific at or near Cucamonga. Senator JONES will be in this city in a few weeks, and soon after his arrival the plan of operations will assume tangible and definite shape. Engineer CRAWFORD will be able to determine upon the most available route in a month or six weeks. President TEMPLE is alive to the importance of immediate and active steps in the way of pushing forward this great work, and he is determined to commence operations at once.

Water on the Hills.

The Hill Land Waterworks are now in full tide of successful operation. The pipes are laid from the reservoir to Bellevue Terrace, a distance of about one mile, and the water is passing the entire length. From this main the water will be conducted in smaller pipes wherever it is required on any part of the high lands. In carrying out this enterprise, Mr. BEAUDRY has added many thousands to the wealth of our city. The several hundred acres which these water-works will render as productive as any portion of the valley and convert into desirable homestead property, for years possessed only a nominal value and added next to nothing to the city's revenue. To-day this land is worth $500 to $1,500 per acre, and it will continue to increase in value from year to year. But for the pluck, energy and enterprise of Mr. BEAUDRY, these hill lands would have remained as he found them—unproductive and valueless—for a half dozen generations, or until they attracted the attention of some man or company possessed of sufficient energy to force water above the level on which nature placed it. Aside from the increased wealth and revenue which these water-works will add to the city, the number of beautiful and comfortable homes they will directly aid in creating, is a matter to excite the pride and gratulation of our citizens. Cheap and desirable building lots within a few minutes walk of the very heart of the city are desirable, and these the enterprise of Mr. BEAUDRY has placed within the reach of all.

Democratic Candidates.

Some days ago the HERALD from its independent stand point spoke of Senator PHILIP A. ROACH, editor of the San Francisco Examiner, as one of the ablest and most influential men in the Democratic party of California, and as the probable candidate of that party for Governor. Since that item went forth we have seen articles eulogistic of Senator ROACH and referring to his probable candidacy, in the San Francisco Post, which has no fixed political principles, but is everything by turns and nothing long; the Fresno Expositor, Democratic; and the San Francisco Monitor, which, though a religious journal, frequently touches upon politics and always on the side of the Democracy. No other leading Democrats have been alluded to in terms of commendation by their own or other journals. It is well known that Senator WILLIAM IRWIN of Siskiyou, editor of the Yreka Union would like to succeed Governor BOOTH, but in consequence of his recent while foundering in the slough of railroad freights and fares during the last session of the Legislature, the Senator is classed among the lame ducks that nobody will bet on. He is one of those wise owls that twist their heads off while watching the enemy circling around their perch. Senator JESSE FARLEY, of Amador, has pictured himself in the gubernatorial chair, but it is a fancy sketch, which the fact that he voted to pass two railroad subsidy bills over Governor HIGHT'S veto, will prevent ever assuming the solidity of reality. Hon. THOMAS FINDLEY, ex-State Treasurer is mentioned as likely to be before the Democratic State Convention for Governor, or but as IRWIN FARLEY, O'CONNOR and other leaders of the party in the Legislature last Winter opposed him for United States Senator, when it was well known he was the only man from the Democratic side who could be elected, they will probably exert themselves to defeat his nomination for Governor. There are probably five or six hundred other Democrats who would like to be Governor and will be candidates, but like some of those we have named they are single-engine steamers, that are only fast when stuck in a mud flat. As they appear on the surface we shall photograph them as we shall the small army of Independent and Republican candidates.

Railroad Question in Sonora.

The authorities of Guaymas have published a pamphlet, addressed to all the people of Sonora, on the subject of railroads. That they are fully alive to the importance of this subject is evident from the forcible language of the address. It seems that Messrs. TRUMAN and BLAIR, the former being connected with a New York banking house and the latter with a strong firm in San Francisco, had visited Guaymas for the purpose of looking into the feasibility of building a railroad from that port to connect with the Texas and Pacific at some convenient point. These gentlemen proceeded to the City of Mexico across the country. If we may judge from the hearty good will with which they were received in Guaymas, we shall not be surprised if they obtain all the assistance they require from the Government as soon as Congress meets. Should their enterprise prove a success, it will give a new impetus to the Texas and Pacific. If the Government of Mexico should extend a liberal subsidy to that enterprise, the Government of the United States could not go back on its own cherished progressive principles and refuse the little aid that the Texas and Pacific Company need. Such an act would be tantamount to saying directly to Mexico, "We are as near you as we wish to be." There could be no other interpretation of such an act, when we understand that the Texas and Pacific Company only asks the Government of the United States to endorse for the payment of the interest on a few millions of their bonds, and for this little favor they propose to put up guarantees for five times the amount. When we consider the importance of this great work and its value to our Government and people, we doubt if there is a sober thinking man in America (outside of politicians and rings) who would not favor granting the assistance required by the Government. The language of the pamphlet above alluded to is as applicable to Southern California as it is to Sonora. The following is only a paragraph from it: But we will not stop to demonstrate the utility of railroads, because that is so evident that the most feeble minded understand it. It is a palpable truism, recognized universally, that nature was prodigal in forming Mexico. Well, then, let us pass to science and industry in order that our natural riches may be unfolded and multiplied, let us give every kind of protection to enterprises of utility, and in exchange for the capital furnished by enterprise, let us divide our fertile lands, our rich mines, our woods and plains with the managers. In this manner, all the elements combining, our population would augment in such a manner that remote deserts would be converted into flourishing cities, commerce would raise itself from the decadence and ruin it has been dragged by public mismanagement, agriculture would be raised from its present low condition, our mines would produce treasures unheard of as yet, and finally, the innumerable fountains of industry buried in our soil would contribute to augment the products we should be able to export abroad, after attending to our own necessities.

Progress of the Political Campaign in Nevada. VIRGINIA CITY, October 10th.—The national meeting of the Union Republican party, held to-night, was great success, and called together the greatest concourse of people ever collected in this State. Delegations from Lyon, Ormsby, Washoe and Douglas counties attended, and the assembly numbered over 4,000. Great enthusiasm prevailed. Bonfires were lighted throughout the city, and the various delegations were received with music from the bands and the shrill whistles of all the holding-works on the Comstock lode, from the Caladonia to the Sierra Nevada. Mr. DeLong made an able and eloquent speech. An interesting letter from Senator Jones, regarding his inability to attend, and setting forth the reasons for the continued confidence of the people in the Republican party, was read and received with great applause. All the speakers were loudly applauded. Mr. Sharon was frequently called on, but owing to a severe cold was unable to address the people. The meeting adjourned with three times three for the whole Republican ticket.

Patrons of Husbandry.

STOCKTON, October 11.—The Grange convened at the usual hour on Friday, and opened in due form. The greater part of the session was consumed in discussing various mooted questions looking to the welfare of the members of the Order and the producing classes generally. The reforms proposed to be inaugurated and the manner in which they are to be brought about, were ably discussed by members from different parts of the State, the remarks of some of the speakers eliciting hearty applause. One of the gravest matters with which the Grange has to contend is the supplying of the deficiency due to the failure of the harvest early in the season, before the decline in wheat. It has been proposed to make up the deficiency by assessments equitably apportioned among the subordinate Granges. This does not meet with unanimous approval, and the solution of the question is altogether problematical. Adjourned until Saturday.

The Grass Valley Union wants a fruit drying establishment for that city, and states that the amount of fruit which will otherwise be wasted this year will more than pay for it.

Dana Declines. NEW YORK, October 10th.—Charles A. Dana has declined the nomination for Mayor, tendered by the Industrial Political Party.

A Meeting of the Powers. CHICAGO, October 14th.—The Times of this morning says that a few days ago Sidney Dillon and Jay Gould, representing the Union Pacific Railroad, met at Denver the representatives of the Kansas Pacific, and entered into an agreement to pro-rate with the latter road on all passenger and freight business. The arrangement is to be good until the decision of the United States Courts on the question as submitted by the Kansas Pacific. If this statement is correct, it will have the effect to break up the so-called Iowa pool, and will insure greatly to the benefit of the Chicago and Alton Railway which has a through line to Kearney, and will, it is said, now put on through trains.

Our Railroad. PHILADELPHIA, October 14th.—The stockholders of the California and Texas Railroad Company met here to-day. A lengthy discussion was held upon the scheme previously devised, by which the affairs of the company may be re-organized and their interest advanced. The plan was adopted, its main provision in the changing of the Texas and Pacific first mortgage bonds from $40,000 to $20,000 per mile, and to issue a second mortgage on land grant bonds at $20,000 per mile, and sell them respectively at $55.40. Eighty-five percent of the Company's creditors have agreed to accept these bonds in liquidation of their indebtedness.

Election Returns. CHICAGO, October 14th.—Returns of the elections yesterday indicate that Ohio has gone Democratic, probably 25,000.

The Republican State ticket in Iowa is probably elected.

It is impossible to tell the result of the election in Indiana. The Republicans certainly elect seven Congressmen.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

ONE DOLLAR per square of ten lines, first insertion, and TWENTY-FIVE cents per square for each subsequent insertion.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

The Council meets to-day.

The Senator is advertised to sail for San Francisco on Saturday, October 17th.

A shipment of forty tons of asphaltum was made from the depot yesterday.

Chamberlin & Bancroft offer a splendid residence for sale. See their advertisement.

G. W. Morgan has a cottage house in a desirable locality for sale. Price, $1,000.

Twenty-one passengers left by the steamer Constantine yesterday for San Francisco.

The Mutual Aid for October is out. It is filled with interesting insurance and Grange news.

H. L. Chamberlin will find a message for him at the Western Union Telegraph office.

The Real Estate Associates filed their articles of incorporation with the County Clerk yesterday.

The break in the railroad track near Spadra was repaired yesterday and trains will make their regular time to-day.

The Turn-Verein Society have changed their place of meeting for tonight from their hall to the German-English school house on Main street.

Fresh cranberries are in the market at one dollar per gallon; Messrs. E. Germain & Co. of the Los Angeles Fruit and Poultry Market have them.

Mr. Eugene Germain, of the firm of Germain & Co., has just returned from San Francisco where he has made large accessions to his stock of goods.

The Japanese Troupe perform again at Turn-Verein Hall to-night—positively their last appearance in Los Angeles, as they will give an entertainment in Wilmington on Friday evening.

Wolf & Gates will set a lunch of roast turkey, chicken salad and various other delicious "fixins" at the Fashion Saloon this morning at 11 o'clock. A general invitation is extended to the public.

Mr. Chas. Dotter, of the firm of Dotter & Bradley, has our thanks for a generous contribution of champagne sent to our office last night. A young son is at the bottom of Charlie's good humor.

Mr. Chas. Wise, who is traveling through this valley in the capacity of merchant, is authorized to receipt for subscriptions to the Daily and Weekly Herald. We bespeak for Mr. Wise the courtesies of our friends throughout the country where he may go.

We regret to announce the death of a little daughter of Wm. Farrell, named Sarah Agnes, aged eight years and eleven months. The funeral will take place from the family residence, Pearl street, near Sixth, this afternoon at 3 o'clock. Friends are invited.

The popular thing now in prospect is the picnic to be given by the Irish Literary Society at Arroyo Seco on the 25th inst. It will probably be the last of its kind this season, and as it will be the practical inauguration of the new society, everybody will be on hand with his wife's sister.

Complaints are made that the zanja on Main street below Washington has been dry for some time, and the people in that locality are greatly inconvenienced thereby. Many of them depend upon the zanja for water for domestic uses, and the want of the accustomed supply becomes a serious matter.

Dr. Richardson and Mr. Stanford have arranged a trot between their horses over the Agricultural track, on Monday afternoon, the 19th inst. The programme is mile heats, best two in three. Mr. Stanford's horse pulls his wagon and the Doctor's horse a skeleton wagon; purse, two hundred dollars; owners to drive.

The Board of Supervisors met yesterday pursuant to adjournment, to hear petitions for bridges. A special meeting was set for October 28th to consider petitions for building three bridges on the Wilmington and Anaheim road, one bridge on the Anaheim and Spadra road, and the proposed bridge across New River at the Sanford Crossing. At that meeting they will also determine about advertising for proposals for building said bridges.

In the District Court yesterday, Mr. John C. Bicknell, formerly Court Commissioner, presented his resignation of that office. The resignation was accepted and Mr. Geo. C. Gibbs appointed to fill the vacancy. In taking this action Judge Sepulveda paid a very high and merited compliment to Mr. Bicknell, for the ability, faithfulness and integrity with which he had discharged his duty.

Another entertainment and ball will be given by the Turn-Verein Germania at their hall next Sunday evening. The entertainment will commence with a German play, entitled "Spiel und Balken," and will be followed by a variety of little pieces of resistance in English, called "Beautiful Forever," the whole to be concluded by a grand ball. The doors will be open at 7 o'clock, performance to commence at 8; admission, 50 cents.

The following is a list of the passengers per steamer Senator, which sailed for Wilmington October 13th: J. M. Allen, H. Mahew, M. Wescott, C. E. Miles, wife and four children, W. F. Tyler, E. J. Taylor, wife and children, G. W. Bartie and mother, Mrs. Strong, Sisters Jerome and Maria, D. Thomas, Gen. Rose, Mrs. Belle Shaw, Mrs. Burt and children, J. Proctor, wife and children, M. Katz, G. W. Bittender, J. Roland, Mrs. M. Henderson, W. C. Harmon, J. A. Low, Mrs. H. Cohn, Miss Emma Bailey, D. Dutton, and wife, F. Sage, W. J. Welch, H. Haxhurst, C. H. Evans, wife and son, A. Nelsbenson, J. Lovelace and wife.

Marshall's Japanese Troupe attracted another large audience to Turn-Verein Hall last night. The performance passed off with its usual success, the interest which was aroused at first being not a whit abated by the third repetition. Many new tricks were introduced into the programme, and the best of those at first brought out were repeated. Without doubt this company is one of the best which has ever visited Southern California or any other country. It is a cult to conceive how the art of leger-de-main, balancing and rope-walking could ever be brought to a higher degree of perfection; and, if such were possible, the Japs alone could do it. The last performance, in our city will be given to-night and they will then seek other fields to conquer. Owing to their immense success in Los Angeles their stay will be thus prolonged one evening after the expected time.

The Coming Show.

The San Francisco News Letter comments as follows on the circus combination and menagerie which will visit Los Angeles on the 25th of this month: "Montgomery Queen's Circus and Menagerie opened, on Tuesday, on the new circus ground corner of Seventh and Mission streets, to an overflowing house. The performance in its main features was excellent. Little Mollie Brown, the youngest female star in the arena, succeeded in throwing a backward summersault with her magnificent steed was running at full speed. Geraldine and Leopard performed the most daring and graceful trapeze act it has ever been our fortune to witness. Charles and Carrie Austin's military specialty was a feature, and Geo. Sloman, with his flying globe on horseback, received well merited applause. We advise a change of base, and if the Palace Amphitheatre could be secured, we are sure this grand exhibition would fill it for a month to come. The animals, contained in eight cages are all very fine specimens. This can specially be said of the den of lions.

MARBLE.

We yesterday saw some specimens of marble brought by Mr. W. W. Jenkins from a mountain about three miles north of San Fernando. The marble was taken from the surface and, except a slight discoloration on the parts exposed to the weather, was a clear white. It seemed hard and solid, and no doubt would be capable of a fine polish. Mr. Jenkins says that there is a ledge of this rock on the comb of the mountain some nine hundred yards wide and of an indefinite length, the mountain being so rough that he was unable to follow it up along the whole distance. Doubtless there is an immense body of this valuable material, and lying upon the surface as it does, it could be easily quarried. The side of the mountain where the bed is located is quite precipitous, and a chute which could be constructed at slight expense would carry the quarried marble down into the valley, whence it could be hauled to the depot. If this discovery should prove what it promises, it will furnish an invaluable supply of building material, and that of the first quality, he thought, the body of marble is quite curious as geological specimens. They contain petrified forms of animal life, such as several species of fish, and in one, a bird's head. These specimens will all be forwarded to the head of the Pacific Railroad for inspection and subsequent exhibition at the coming Centennial.

Embalming.

However much the process of cremation may be debated and recommended by scientists, an age at least must elapse before it will become the general method of disposing of the dead; and, appealing to the finer feelings and affections of the friends and relations of deceased persons, it will become the popular method never. Rather would we hope that the opposite course may be adopted, and, instead of committing the remains of our dear departed to ashes or to earth, that they may be preserved through all time by the process of embalming. Next to the immortality of the soul, our thoughts naturally revert to all that is mortal of us after this life has past, and few can really divest themselves of a nameless horror at the thought that the body must at last decay and become food for the vile worm. A problem to the solution of which much study and attention have been given during the last few years by scientific men, is that of preserving the remains of the body from decay, and of embalming adopted by the Egyptians is a lost art, but even could it be revived, it would be inadequate to the demands of the age. Something more is required than dried-up mummy, although it might be preserved in that condition thousands of years. To embalm bodies and preserve them in their natural state without mark or blemish is the great question now among those who give the most attention to the subject, and for practical purposes, we believe that the question has been solved. Dr. L. Dexter Lyford, of our city, has a process of embalming, entirely his own, which seems to answer all of these requirements. Through an extended practice in this branch of his profession in California, Colorado and other States East and West, he has acquired a wide-spread fame for being one of the most skilled in the country in this difficult process. He has universally met with success wherever his services have been brought into requisition, and some of his subjects have been preserved for three or four years, retaining a life-like expression of features and untouched by decay. How much longer the remains may be preserved has not yet been demonstrated. If this process of embalming, yet comparatively new, proves to be a success, of which we have the best assurances, the faces of dead friends of this generation may lie sleeping together a thousand years hence, with the natural and quiet appearance of slumber. The thought is an agreeable one. It relieves death of some of its terrors. He who dreams the thought of crumbling to dust, can have no objection to being transformed into an imperishable statue—a fitting and true monument of himself which shall endure through ages.

(Written for the Herald.)
CONJECTURE
You spoke of evergreens, and smiled
A tender, reminiscent smile;
And told us of a group where once
You sat, bygone days; the while
A blush grew brighter on your cheek,
A fond look lighted up your eye,
And as you panted, it seemed to me,
That hill and dale passed flying by,
Within your mind, until again
You sat beneath the Spiky Tree,
And laughed and sang as glad as then.
Ah, lady! strangers eye can see;
I wonder who was with you then,
Beneath the cedar's drooping bough,
Did lover linger at your side,
To plight a tender, earnest vow,
Or did a loving mother speak
In soothing tones that lulled to rest,
And gently turn your cheekly head
To find its pillow on her breast?
Did careful brother brush away
The falling leaves from off your hair?
Across your face, enfolding arms,
Did gentle sister sweep her hair?
I seek no answer to the thoughts
That come unbidden from my heart;
But I believe your life has been
A tender, happy, unending part,
In that great drama which we play
Upon the stage of human life;
That you have never shrunk away
Nor shirked your task amid the strife,
I only hope in future days
You may know—know to love:
That you may win deserved praise
Alike on earth and up above.
—BRUCE.
